Exchange guide incoming exchange students 2017 - 2018

International Office
Faculty Behavioural and Social Sciences

Dear exchange student,

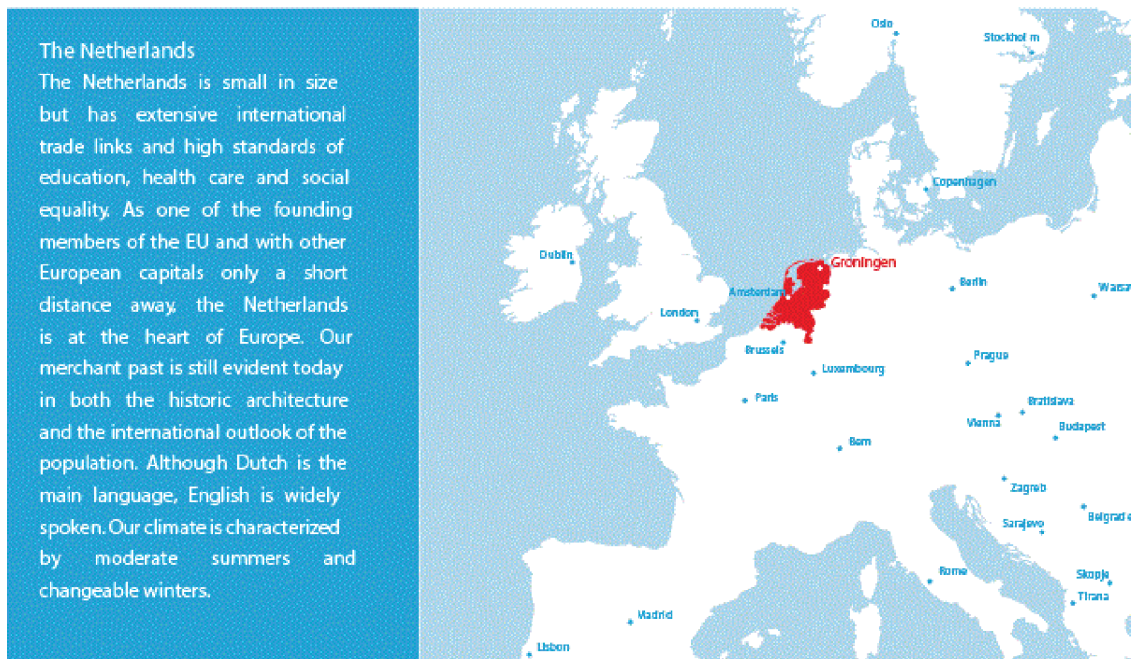

Welcome to the Faculty of Behavioural and Social Sciences (BSS) of the University of Groningen! We hope you will have an unforgettable exchange experience during your stay in Groningen that will meet your expectations or even exceed them. Our faculty receives international students and exchange students from all over the world. No doubt this will be an enrichment to your international experience.

To get an idea of what it is like being an exchange student in Groningen, some blogs of the ESN mentoring committee (MIC) are posted in this guide and quotes of former exchange students will be presented. On the last pages you find an article written by a former exchange student, Laura Mitchell. The article is about the differences between gender in her home country (UK) and the Netherlands.

Kind regards,

The BSS Mobility Office

- 5,591 fte staff
- 404 professors (m/f: 304/100)
- 2,019 PhDs
- 48 Bachelor's programmes
- 167 Master's programmes
- 11 Faculties
- 9 Graduate Schools

Faculty Garden

“Imagine being an international student arriving in the Netherlands for the first time, to study abroad. First of all the journey towards Groningen has to be weird. After having seen only meadows for the last two hours, you suddenly arrive at your destination. Groningen appears to be located in the middle of nowhere, something nobody probably told you before coming here. Because the Netherlands is one of the most dense countries in the world right? On your way here, you may ask yourself whether you took the wrong train, or after carefully consulting the conductor about the destination of the train, wonder how on earth such a city can be the fun place they promised you to be. However that’s definitely not the strangest aspect of Groningen. It only gets weirder and weirder after this. The moment you step out of the train you suddenly find yourself in the mad-house that is called ‘traffic’ in Groningen, completely ruled by bicycles. If you have never seen so many people cycling before it has to be frightening. Especially since cyclists in Groningen treat traffic rules with what can only be described as an attitude of disdain. On top of that you are also expected to join this circus, if you want to get to your lectures on time. And what’s up with the food in the wall? Although it might seem strange at first, you will very soon come to appreciate the sensation of eating a lukewarm kroket or frikandel after a heavy night in the Three Sisters. And this is only the start, what to think of the intimidating height of the Dutch students? Or the fact that everyone is so straightforward it borders on being plainly rude? Dinnertime at 18.00 straight? Deep-fried boiled eggs? The birthday of a present-giving Catholic saint with negro-slaves that spank if you have been naughty as a national holiday? The hair gel-soaked frat boy haircut?”

Practical information

Start of the semester

The course programmes start in September for the first semester and in February for the second semester. Ideally, students wishing to attend the exchange programme should arrive at the end of August or January so that they have sufficient time to get to know Groningen and the University buildings.

Academic Calendar 2017-2018

At the end of each block is a 2-week period of exams. Students who do not pass an exam and wish to take a re-sit will be able to do so in the middle of the following block. Students who want to take a re-sit must carefully check the schedule to make sure they are still in Groningen for the exam. An overview of the academic calendar can be found here:

Semester 1: September 4th, 2017 – February 2nd, 2018

Week 36: Study Start week: no lectures, but several introductory activities are organized

Block 1a

Lectures: 11 September – 27 October

Exams block 1a: 30 October – 10 November

Resits block 1a: 4 December – 8 December

Block 1b

Lectures: 13 November – 19 January

Exams block 1b: 22 January – 2 February

Resits block 1b: 26 February – 2 March

Semester 2: February 5th, 2018 – June 22nd, 2018

Block 2a

Lectures: 5 February – 30 March

Exams block 2a: 2 April – 13 April

Resits block 2a: 7 May – 11 May

Block 2b

Lectures: 16 April – 8 June

Exams block 2b: 11 June – 22 June

Resits block 2b: 2 July – 13 July

In 2017-2018, no lectures or examinations will be held on the following days:

- * Good Friday
- * Easter Monday
- * King's Day – National Holiday, Birthday of the King, on 27 April
- * Liberation Day – Celebration of the liberation on May 5, 1945
- * Ascension Day

Credits

The study load of each course is expressed in ECTS (European Credit Transfer Protocol). One ECTS is equivalent to 28 hours of study. An academic year (60 ECTS credit points) consist of two semesters (30 ECTS credit points each), and a semester is divided into two blocks (15 ECTS credit points each).

Exchange students are advised to choose courses worth a total of 15 ECTS credit points per block (= 30 ECTS credit points per semester). This will ensure a balanced study load.

I had a great time in Groningen -it was an amazing experience. I met lovely people and learned a lot. I would like to highlight particularly the very kind and professional support from the Mobility Office of the faculty. I can highly recommend to do an exchange in the Netherlands especially in the beautiful city of Groningen!

Exchange student, Germany (14-15)

I had THE time of my life and this exchange turned out to be an awesome experience from a number of perspectives!

Exchange student, Italy (16-17)

Student Support Services

Even though an exchange semester can be very exciting, you are in a completely new environment which might be challenging for you from time to time. This is why we would like to provide you with some information about our support services.

Maybe you become homesick because you have difficulty adjusting to the new culture, or you are facing personal problems that are affecting your academic performance. Perhaps you just need some advice about the courses that you are taking.

Our support services are all commonly used by students and they are easily approachable. So, in case you feel like talking to someone about study-related matters, matters related to your wellbeing, or other problems related to your exchange semester, please know that it is perfectly normal to seek help.

The university offers multiple facilities that you can use. Of course, you can always come to the Mobility Office with any general question that you might have. For more complex or personal matters, the first step is always to make an appointment with one of our Study Advisors.

Appointments with Study Advisors of all BSS departments can be made through the Student Service Desk:

- Telephone +31 (0)50 363 6301
- Email: owbalie.gmw@rug.nl
- Come by at their desk on the first floor of the Heymans building between 9:00-12:00 and 13:00-17:00

More information about the Student Service Desk can be found on this site:

<http://www.rug.nl/gmw/education/onderwijsbalie/>

Study Advisors Psychology:

http://www.rug.nl/gmw/psychology/education/studieadviseurs_psychologie

Study Advisor Pedagogy&Educational Sciences (Alette Arendshorst):

http://www.rug.nl/gmw/pedagogy-and-educational-sciences/education/studie_begeleiding_advies_pedok?lang=en

Study Advisor Sociology (Tessa Veenstra):

<http://www.rug.nl/staff/t.w.veenstra/>

Depending on your problem, your Study Advisor might refer you to one of the other facilities offered by the university: the Student Service Centre (SSC). However, we recommend you to make an appointment with one of our Study Advisors before contacting the SSC.

The SSC offers a wide range of support facilities – student counsellors (financial and legal questions), psychological counselling service (personal and academic issues, short-term counselling), trainers and psychologists (workshops, courses to improve your study skills and to support your personal development).

The SSC can be contacted in the following ways:

- Visiting address: Uurwerkersgang 10, Groningen
- Telephone: +31 (0)50 363 8066 (on Friday reachable till 1 p.m.)
- Email: ssc-info@rug.nl

In case you have any questions about specific courses that you're taking, it is best to contact the lecturer and/or coordinator of the course. Contact information about lecturers can be found on this website <http://www.rug.nl/staff/> or via the course catalogue <https://www.rug.nl/ocasys/>. Most lecturers have walk-in hours which should be mentioned in their contact information. In case a lecturer does not have walk-in hours, we would advise you to approach them after the lecture.

We hope this information is helpful for you. Please know that you can always contact us in case of problems or questions!

Courses for exchange students

We do not offer courses exclusively for exchange students. This means that as an exchange student you will participate in courses alongside regular degree students (Bachelor of Science and Master of Science). This will enhance your academic learning experience and give you a wide selection of courses to choose from. However, it does mean that you need to meet entry requirements similar to those we set for our degree students, regarding both your academic qualifications and your level of English language proficiency. The majority of courses open to exchange students are Bachelor's (undergraduate) courses. Some Master's (graduate) courses are also open to exchange students who have completed a Bachelor's degree programme.

To get you started in composing your study plan, this guide will provide you with information about the English-taught courses we offer to exchange students. We offer courses in the following disciplines:

- Psychology
- Pedagogy and Educational Sciences
- Sociology

Next to this, the Faculty of Arts offers the "Dutch Studies Program". This programme is about courses in Dutch Literature and History, within a European Perspective.

You may also choose courses from the University College Groningen, Bachelor's Programme Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Course registration

After you made your course selection, please add the selected courses to your Learning Agreement and send it to the Mobility Office (exchange.gmw@rug.nl). If courses are not available (anymore), we will inform you about this as soon as possible in order to give you enough time to find alternatives. Once your Learning Agreement is approved by us and signed by all parties, we will enrol you for the courses. Please do not try to register for the courses yourself! Within the first three weeks of every block, it is possible to make changes to your Learning Agreement.

List of courses

On the following pages you can find an overview of the courses given at the Faculty of Behavioural and Social Sciences that are open to exchange students. Detailed information about the course contents, course codes, credit points (ECTS) and the semester/block in which the courses take place can be obtained by clicking on the course titles. The links refer to our course catalogue: <https://www.rug.nl/ocasys/>

In exceptional cases and only if you meet the specific entry requirements, you can be admitted to BSS courses that are not listed in the exchange guide. Should you be interested in such course, please notify us so we can make a request to the lecturer (unless it is explicitly stated in the course catalogue that a course is not open to external/exchange students).

Please note that a minimum of 50% of the courses you select have to be from the Faculty of Behavioural and Social Sciences. In case you would like to attend courses at other faculties as well, please notify us so we can make a request to the relevant faculty.

Course package ‘Challenging Society’

Challenging Society is a faculty-wide combination package of courses taught in English. Students learn how to analyse the interplay between individuals and their social environment from a Behavioural and Social science perspective. Drawing on knowledge from Educational Science, Social Psychology, and Sociology this combination of courses offers an interdisciplinary approach to the topic of Challenging Society.

Students who want to take courses of this package can choose from the following courses that are on offer in the first semester:

Description

Individuals, families, and organizations in contemporary societies face many challenges. Individuals trace their personal development in a diverse social environment, having to meet demands from various social contexts such as families, work organizations, and friendship groups. Families educate their children to become well adapted and fully participating members of a culturally diverse society. And organizations have to cope with ever changing demands from a complex social and institutional environment. Importantly, the ways in which individuals, families, and organizations deal with these challenges in turn shape society. Individuals challenge social norms, families challenge traditional role definitions and institutions, and organizations challenge competitors and accepted work and leadership practices. Thus, society is both challenging and challenged.

Bachelor level Psychology courses

The following courses are open for exchange students. Some introduction level courses from the first two years are open to incoming exchange students. A level of at least two years of general study in psychology is the entry level for the third-year courses on offer. Course information and course scheduling are always subject to change.

Please note that only the courses listed below are open to incoming exchange students. You cannot enrol for practical courses not listed in this guide such as Dialogue and Group Skills or Research Practicum.

If you would like more information about a specific course, please contact the faculty member listed as the contact person. Their address can be found on the faculty website:

Master level Psychology Courses

Introduction

The Master of Science in Psychology is a one-year programme with a Dutch-taught and an English-taught track. Entry requirements are a Bachelor's degree in Psychology or equivalent.

The English-taught courses in this programme are open to advanced-level exchange students who have completed three years of Bachelor's study or have obtained a Bachelor's degree (BA or BSc) in Psychology. Additional entrance requirements (e.g. a sufficient background in Statistics) may apply for individual courses. It is not possible for exchange students to perform literature studies or to write a Master's Thesis. Students who wish to complete their Master's thesis at the Department of Psychology of the University of Groningen are recommended to apply for admission to the English-taught Master's degree programme.

Practical information

- Please contact the Mobility Office to check whether you meet the prerequisites of the Master's courses.
- For academic issues specifically related to the study program of the specific Master's Program you would like to join, you can contact Dr. Stacey Donofrio (s.m.donofrio@rug.nl)
- Please note that the courses from the Research Master are not open to incoming exchange students.

Master level Sociology courses

Introduction

The Sociology department offers the one-year Master's programme 'Social Networks in a Sustainable Society'. The courses listed below are open to exchange students. Every course has its own prerequisites and entry requirements. Access is permitted on an individual basis.

Entry requirements are at least a Bachelor's degree in Sociology or equivalent. The English-taught courses in this programme are open to advanced-level exchange students who have completed three years of Bachelor-level study or have obtained a Bachelor's degree (BA or BSc) in Psychology. Additional entry requirements (e.g. sufficient background in Statistics) may apply for individual courses.

Practical information

Please contact the Mobility Office to check whether you meet the prerequisites of the Master's courses. For academic issues specifically related to the study programme of the specific Master's programme you would like to join, please contact Dr. M. (Michael) Maes (m.maes@rug.nl)

Please note that the courses from the Research Master are not open to incoming exchange students.

Note: Master level courses in the field of Sociology are only offered in the first semester of the academic year!

Bachelor level Pedagogical and Educational Scs. Courses

The courses offered are part of the minor “Challenging Youth” and can be taken separately.

How do the pedagogical sciences contribute to issues and problems in bringing up young people? In this minor, we study historical, theoretical, and intercultural perspectives and explore socio-scientific concepts like gender, sexuality, and ethnicity. In doing so, the program aims to broaden your horizon, equip you with knowledge on youth in different contexts, and develop your critical approach to youth-related themes and debates.

For questions about the courses, please contact Dr. Tina Kretschmer: t.kretschmer@rug.nl.

Note: Bachelor level courses in the field of Pedagogical and Educational Sciences are only offered in the first semester of the academic year!

Program

Course	Course code	ECTS	Period

International history of educational ambitions	PAMINo8	5	1A
Paper	PAMINo2	5	1B
Gender & Diversity in Education	PAMINo6B	10	1B

"I am doing a bachelor in pedagogy, and I wanted to gain some insight in the more challenging sides of my field of study. The challenging youth minor gave me deeper insight in the challenges I can meet as a pedagogue, and the fact that it covers a broad spectre of themes was a plus."

(Norwegian Erasmus student)

"Gender and Diversity in Education has been a very inspiring course."

(3rd year Communication and Information Sciences)

"I looked for an interactive, applicable program that addresses the issues in pedagogical sciences and then I finally found it."

(Audit student, Psychology)

Master level Pedagogical and Educational Scs. courses

The Pedagogical and Educational Sciences department offers four one-year Master's programmes:

- Ethics of Education: Philosophy, History and Law
- Youth 0-21, Society and Policy
- Communication and Deafblindness
- Evidence-based Education

Entry requirements are at least a Bachelor's degree in Pedagogics/Educational Sciences or equivalent. Additional entry requirements (e.g. sufficient background in Statistics) may apply for individual courses. The courses listed below are open to exchange students. Several other courses from the course catalogue might be open but have their own prerequisites and entry requirements. Access to those courses is granted on an individual basis. Please contact the Mobility Office should you be interested in a course that is not listed below.

Please note that the courses from the Research Master are not open to incoming exchange students.

Note: In the second semester, admission to Master level courses in the field of Pedagogical and Educational Sciences is granted on an individual basis and only with the approval of the lecturer!
