

Can I visit the University?

Answer these five questions before you visit the University to teach, study or work.

Working and studying from home

- Staff member? Inform your manager.
- Student? Inform your lecturer and/or study advisor.
- For the self-quarantine rules, see government.nl.

You are allowed to visit the University again after 10 days.*

What to do if you test positive?

If you have COVID-19, you and your household must self-quarantine at home-as should your close contacts. The GGD will provide further information.

We ask our staff and students to notify their manager or study advisor if they test positive for COVID-19. Due to privacy legislation this is not compulsory, but every reported infection will help us to keep our University community safe and healthy.

You are allowed to visit the University

Please note, however, that working and studying from home will remain the norm.

Only come in for scheduled teaching activities, reserved study spaces or work activities (with your manager's permission). Everyone is required to wear a facemask/ personal protective equipment when moving through UG buildings, or when queueing. Talk to your manager/study advisor if you (or a housemate) belong to a high-risk group and are concerned about visiting the University.
