5. Principles underlying the processing of data

The legal bases underlying the processing of data for the purposes described above are diverse. Primarily, the processing of data supports the UG in the performance of its tasks of public interests, i.e. providing academic teaching and research. These duties are stipulated in the Higher Education and Research Act. Processing of data may also take place on the basis or for the purpose of:

- Executing an agreement made with you
- Protecting your or other people’s vital health interests
- Complying with a legal obligation to which the UG is subject
- A legitimate interest of the UG or another party to process the data (only insofar as the processing does not take place as part of the exercise of the UG’s public task)
- The consent to process data given by you.

If you have given the UG consent to processes your personal data, you have the option to withdraw your consent.

6. Further processing, reuse for academic research

It may happen that the UG processes personal data for purposes other than those for which they were collected. In such a case, the impact this processing may have on you as a data subject is weighed against the purpose for which the UG processes the data. The question of whether you can reasonably expect, at the time and within the framework of the data collection, that your data may be processed for this purpose will also be taken into account. The UG will always observe the statutory regulations in this respect.

Personal data will only be further processed in a way that is compatible with the purposes for which they were obtained. The UG will carefully assess whether there is compatibility.

The UG may decide to reuse personal data for academic after it has been collected for another purpose. Further processing of personal data for historical, statistical, and academic purposes will generally be considered compatible with the original purposes of processing. You will be specifically informed of this if necessary.

7. Categories of personal data

Personal data are all data by which you can be identified (directly or indirectly). This General Privacy Statement outlines which categories of personal data are processed by the UG. The UG is committed to providing an overview that is as complete as possible. The UG processes the following categories of personal data:

1. Name data, such as surname and initials
2. Contact information, such as address or e-mail address
3. Information regarding relationship, such as civil status
4. Information on gender
5. Data relating to birth and death
6. Residence and visa information
7. Financial data
8. Account details, metadata and location data
9. Personal identification numbers
10. Information about application, registration, or deregistration
11. Information about study progress, monitoring and graduation
12. Employment details
13. Research data
14. Biometric data
15. Health data
16. Information relating to religion or ideology
17. Data that reveal membership of a trade union or professional association
18. Information about an individual’s sex life
19. Information about an individual’s political persuasion
20. Data on racial or ethnic origins.

This may involve personal data that the UG has obtained from you or a third party, or data that the UG has collected itself.

8. People handling your personal data

Within the UG organization, your personal data will only be processed by individuals who need access to your data in the context of fulfilling their professional duties.

For the implementation of its processes, the UG uses various parties that process personal data for the UG (e.g. IT suppliers or research agencies). These ‘processors’ are always subject to written agreements, ensuring that your personal data are treated carefully and securely.

The UG also exchanges personal data with government agencies, universities (national and international) and other third parties. It may also happen that the UG and another party are jointly responsible for the processing of your personal data. If your personal data are made available to a third party by the UG, it is possible that this party will pass on the data to another party. When in the eyes of the law, the UG is responsible for passing on the data to a third party, measures will be taken to ensure the careful and safe handling of your personal data.

The UG is allowed to pass on personal data that it possesses to a third party for the purpose of academic research. The conditions for reuse of personal data for academic research will apply accordingly in this context.

9. External sources of data

In most cases, the UG obtains the personal data it processes from you. In some cases, the data is obtained from an external source. Where possible, you will be specifically informed about this in advance. You may request further information from the UG at any time.

10. International processing

It is possible that your personal data are processed outside the European Economic Area – where European privacy legislation does not apply – for a certain purpose under the responsibility of the UG. In such cases, the UG will see to it that measures are taken to ensure the careful and safe handling of your personal data.

11. Retention periods

The UG will not retain your personal data any longer than is necessary for achieving the processing objectives. The Selectielijst Universiteiten en Universitair Medische Centra 2020 (in Dutch) serves as a guiding principle for this purpose. Personal data may be kept longer if required for historical, statistical, or academic purposes.
12. Automated decision-making

The UG may make use of profiling in the context of providing suitable education or in the context of research. If the UG decides to use automated decision-making on the basis of personal data, it will inform the relevant data subject about this and observe the applicable statutory regulations. Access will be provided to the logic behind the decision-making if this is also automated.

13. Your rights

You have various rights under privacy legislation. Please contact the UG at privacy@rug.nl if you want to exercise your rights. Your request will be assessed and processed within one month of receipt. If your request deals with a complicated issue or if you submit many requests, this period may be extended to a maximum of three months.

In order to be taken into consideration, it must first be established whether the request has been submitted by an authorized person and whether or not the request is legitimate. This is why you may be asked for your ID before the request is taken into consideration.

You have the right to ask the UG for an overview of all of the personal data that has been collected concerning you, how it has been processed and how long it will be stored for. If you feel that your personal data are incorrect or if you no longer want your data to be processed, you can submit a request to change these data or to stop processing your personal data and to delete them.

You have the right to request a copy of your personal data in a usable format if the data are processed on the basis of an agreement with you or on the basis of your permission. This right only applies to personal data that are processed automatically.

If you have given permission for the processing of your data, you also have the right to revoke this permission. In order to assess and process your request, your personal data will naturally be processed.

14. Complaints

If you are of the opinion that the provisions of this Privacy Statement are not being complied with or if you have another reason to complain about the handling of your personal data, please file a complaint with the Central Privacy Desk of the UG by email: privacy@rug.nl.

The provisions of the Central Portal for the Legal Protection of Student Rights, the General Complaints Regulations of the University of Groningen and the Dutch Administrative Law Act may apply to the handling of your complaint. You will be informed of this when your complaint is handled.

In addition to the right to address questions, requests, and complaints to the UG, you have the right to file a complaint with the supervisory authority. For the Netherlands, this is the Autoriteit Persoonsgegevens (Dutch Data Protection Authority).
15. Amendments to this Privacy Statement

The first version of this Privacy Statement was adopted by the Board of the University on 23 April 2018 and was subsequently published on the UG’s public website, taking effect as of that date. The UG is authorized to amend this Privacy Statement. Possible reasons for amending the Statement could be: amendment(s) to laws and regulations or new laws and regulations, changes to the General Privacy Policy of the UG, and advances in technology. Naturally, you will be informed of this.
