Fondsenwerving 2015

The success of the UEF is due to the attention and generous contributions by our alumni, funds, corporations and other donors. The board, employees of the Fund, but especially the scientists and students that receive your donations, are extremely grateful for your financial and moral support in 2015.

In 2015, the UEF received € 889,505 of income, of which € 887,266 as a result of direct fundraising (donations, grants and pledges for 2015 and coming years) and € 2,239 in interest income.

In addition, the UEF had a close involvement in raising an amount of €1.45 million in donations and grants that went directly to the faculties.

> Trends <

The revenues decreased compared to 2014, the year that the University celebrated its 400-year anniversary for which we received exceptional gifts. Calculated over a period of several years the revenues do show growth. Particularly the number of multi-year donations in the form of a notarial deed has grown strongly in recent years.

> Alumni <

Since the start of the UEF, the involvement of former students of the University holds a central position. Many alumni, young and old, actively engage with the University and the Fund. For example, they act as a guest lecturer, make their network and knowledge available and/or donate to (one of) our projects.

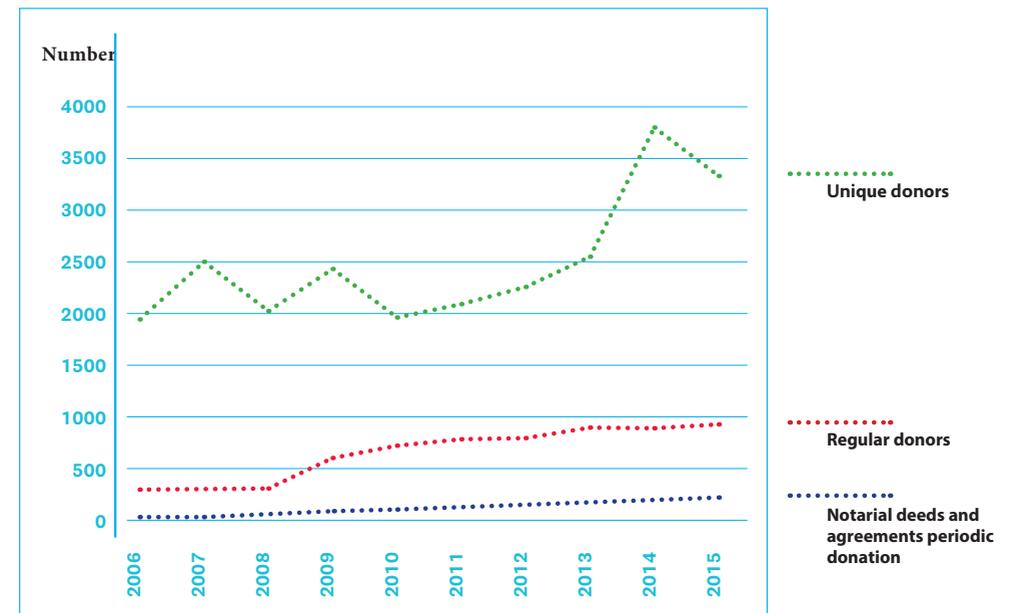

Businesses, organizations and equity- and/or family funds are our key partners in raising funds for research and education, often through the mediation of our alumni network.

> Team <

In September 2015 Gerbrand Visser has been appointed as head of the A&F department and director of the UEF. He succeeded Tienke Koning, who will remain connected to our Fund for two days per week. The team consists of ten permanent employees and a number of flexible staff.

> NAF <

In the United States the UEF cooperates with The Netherlands America Foundation (NAF). Donations that are made in the U.S. are tax deductible through a fund that is linked to the NAF. We can make use of the services of the NAF office.

Alumni Chapters

In The Netherlands and abroad alumni chapters are active, where the Dutch 'gezelligheid' and community involvement meet. The Dutch and some international chapters give financial support to research projects of the University.

> The Netherlands <

In 2015 six regional alumni chapters were active in The Netherlands: 't Gooi (started in 2010), Amsterdam (2011), The Hague - Rotterdam (2012), Aduarderkring (2012) East Netherlands (2013) and Kennemerland (2015).

The alumni chapter Kennemerland was established in January. The first meeting of the chapter took place in September in the Provincial House of North Holland and was a great success. The chapter counted 19 members who collectively pledged their support to the Science Technology and Innovation Network for Sustainability Groningen (STINGS). This is a multidisciplinary project group of the UG, existing of scientists of the Science & Society Group (FWN) and Globalisation Studies Groningen, supported by the UEF. With the support of the alumni chapters, members of STINGS hope to take solid steps to improve food security in Africa, including the training of locals, scientists but also regulators, senior officials and journalists.

As many as 27 members of the Gooische Groningers have made another commitment in favor of the research by Ellen Nollen on the genetic causes of ageing diseases as soon as their pledge had expired. These members have 're-signed' for five years or indefinitely. Moreover, the Elise Mathilde Fund pledged another €5.000 to the 'Gooische' research.

alumni chapter Kennemerland meeting

Toward the end of 2015 the decision came to split up the alumni chapter East Netherlands, or at least to separate the region of Twente. The chapter focused on alumni of Zwolle until Arnhem and Enschede. This geographical spread has proved to be too great. Twente will become a separate alumni chapter and the existing chapter East Netherlands will focus on the region IJsselvallei (roughly).

Mladen Popović, director Qumran Institute, professor Old Testament and Early Judaism

A first theme chapter took form through the formation of an inner circle. The purpose of this theme chapter is to further the research on the Dead Sea Scrolls, which will be conducted at the Qumran Institute of the University led by Mladen Popović, by raising funds to create an additional postdoctoral place at the institute.

In September, a successful dinner was organized in the heart of Utrecht, with interesting presentations by Popović and colleagues. This event was used as a kick-off meeting for fundraising. Meanwhile, a significant number of pledges were made and the first postdoc will start in the coming academic year. Moreover, a film was made on the research of the Dead Sea Scrolls, this was an initiative and expense of an involved alumnus.

> International <

About 17,000 former students are 'international': alumni who have settled abroad, and/or alumni with a foreign nationality. Alumni abroad say that they value contact with fellow Groningers and their old University which is why the UEF facilitates alumni chapters abroad as well. Networking, knowledge sharing and social involvement are central to these chapters, including the connection with the University, its students and scientists.

In 2015, international chapters were active in Washington DC (2010), New York (2011), Hong Kong (2012), Zurich (2012), Singapore (2013), Jakarta (2014), Abu Dhabi / Dubai (2014) and Berlin (2015). Preparations were made for new chapters in Brussels and San Francisco.

In October, a first gathering took place in Berlin. More than 70 alumni attended this meeting and provided promising feedback for the future of the network.

Ying Chi Chan does research on migratory birds in Hong Kong

Alumni in Hong Kong donated € 3,600 to the PhD program Bohai Bay Watchers of researcher Ying-Chi Chan, which is about migratory birds in this region. The project is led by the world-renowned UG-ornithologist and Spinoza prize winner Theunis Piersma.

In the summer seven students went to Singapore for an internship, with support of the alumni chapter in Singapore and the UEF, at companies such as ING, Vopak, Akzo Nobel and Philips. Besides, several social networking events were organized for alumni and the interns.

Campaigns

In 2015 the UEF held several fundraising campaigns. Different fundraising methods were used for these campaigns, often combined, such as a phonathon (the Alumni desk), crowdfunding (www.rugsteunt.nl) and fund requests.

> Eric Bleumink Fund <

The December campaign for the Eric Bleumink Fund (EBF), which provides scholarships to talented students from developing countries, has become a tradition. The campaign consists of a giro action (included in the alumni magazine Broerstraat 5), a phonathon, a staff action and crowdfunding. Throughout the year, several smaller actions took place for the EBF, usually organized by staff and students of the UG. The overall revenues for the EBF in 2015 were € 155,725.

Diana Sekarayu Karunia (Indonesia, 1992), Barnali Chakraborty Chumki (Bangladesh, 1978), Harrun H. Garashi (Kenya, 1973), Yonas Kiflom Tekle (Eritrea, 1985) en Samiksha Ghimire (Nepal, 1988) started their studies in Groningen in September thanks to the EBF scholarship.
Samuel Ng'ang'a Bakari (Kenia, 1981), Jean Claude Rwibasira (Rwanda, 1984) en Bimal Prajapati (Nepal, 1988) were able to complete their studies successfully.

Sad news was the message that Shayera Moula, who successfully obtained her diploma in the beginning of the year, died in May because of complications from a miscarriage. Shayera was a talented journalist who, in 2011, gained a place in the Bangladesh Women Leadership Alliance top 500 of women working in Bangladesh. She only became 29 years.

> Crowdfunding and Phonaton <

Other projects that were funded through crowdfunding and via phonathon are 'Tools for Top Education (for the Tools and Materials Fund of the Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences)', 'Nano Spies in cancer cells' (study of the role of free radicals in cancer cells) and the 'Junior Scientific Masterclass' (a scholarship program of the Faculty of Medical Sciences).

These projects proceeded €160,296, mostly due to the donations of some institutions and private funds, including the Van der Meer-Boerema Foundation, the Anna Dorothea Hingst Foundation and PATO Foundation. The latter donated € 50,000 for the purchase of a factory street for the study Industrial Engineering & Management, as part of the Tools and Materials Fund. This street will allow students to practice and experiment with different systems and modules within a production process.

Since 2015, the UEF offers a crowdfunding platform to students of the University as well with the website www.studenten.rugsteunt.nl. This year, two student projects started.

The screenshot shows the website 'ubbo emmius fonds' with the following content:

- Steun de wetenschap: A project featuring Paul Dolman, CEO of Unilever. A quote from him reads: "Mijn vader leerde me altijd: 'Vergeet oec heesummer nooit'. Vergeet nooit waar je vandaan komt. Ik ben erg dankbaar voor mijn opleiding. Velen hier hebben erboe bijgedragen dat ik nu kan doen wat ik doe." The project has a goal of €20,000 and has raised €24,617.
- Tools voor toponderwijs 2015: A project with a goal of €20,000 and 70% of the goal reached. It has raised €15,707.
- Steun de Eric Bleumink Fonds Talent Grant 2015: A project with a goal of €20,000 and 12.9% of the goal reached. It has raised €2,580.
- Nieuwe kennis over oale grond: A project with a goal of €20,000 and 85% of the goal reached. It has raised €16,925.
- Nano spionnen in kankercellen: A project with a goal of €20,000 and 10.5% of the goal reached. It has raised €2,100.

Projects

Our fund is looking to finance a wide range of projects. Some are highlighted below.

> Cultural landscape Northeast-Twente <

Researcher Harm Smeenge received a gift of €15,000 from 'Landschap Overijssel' and a pledge of €20,000 for 2016 of 'Staatsbosbeheer' for his research on the cultural landscape of Northeast Twente. Smeenge wants to map the landscape development of this region over the past 10,000 years. By connecting different disciplines, such as physical geography, (paleo) ecology and historical geography, he creates a new field of study: the historical ecology.

> Stress in wound care EB <

Foundation Eleven Flowers Fund pledged €50,000 to investigate the wound care of young patients with the skin disease Epidermolysis Bullosa (EB) and its impact on stress and family relationships. The research is conducted by Petra de Graaf, at the Center for Blistering Diseases of the UG, the knowledge center in the field of EB in The Netherlands.

> Avril McDonald Memorial Fund <

This year there was again a fundraising dinner to support the Avril McDonald Memorial Fund, established in memory of UG researcher Avril McDonald, who suddenly died at a young age in 2010. The fund distributes scholarships to promising female scholars to boost their academic careers. In 2015 the revenue was € 3,794.

> Fighting cancer with mathematics <

Medical biologist Kathrin Thedieck conducts research on how to predict the effectiveness of a particular cancer treatment with mathematical models. For now within the genetic disease Tuberous Sclerosis Complex (TSC). Through the alumni network a fund pledged to contribute €35,000 to this research.

> Kromfonds <

The 'Kromfonds' was established in the fall. It is an initiative of Noaber Philanthropy and the dean of the Medical Faculty of the University. It entails a scholarship program that enables talented scientists and executives from both UMCG/UG as the Mayo Clinic (USA) to visit each other, so that one can learn from one another. For five years Noaber Philanthropy provides €30,000 to the UEF on behalf of the Kromfonds.

> Studenten Volleyball Team Donitas <

To increase awareness of the Fund among students, the UEF collaborated with the student volleyball team Donitas Ladies 1 in 2015. This team plays in the league for the first time since twelve years. The UEF facilitated the fundraising needed to make the ambition of the volleyball players, to play at top level, possible.

> STINGS <

Science Technology and Innovation Network Groningen for Sustainability (STINGS), the multidisciplinary project group of the UG, also supported by the alumni chapters Kennemerland and East-Netherlands, in cooperation with the Rathenau Instituut, Solynta, Kramp Varsseveld and Wageningen UR received a NWO-grant of €375,000 for the project 'Responsible innovation in Dutch potato breeding'. This is a research on hybrid potato breeding, in other words 'the seed-potato'.

A second project in which STINGS is involved, 'Strengthen local sustainable energy initiatives with innovative technology', also received a NWO-grant of €375,000 for research on the technical and social possibilities for local sustainable energy systems.

Both grants are transferred directly to the concerning faculties. Therefore the results are not reflected in our figures, but the UEF did have an important mediating role.

The same applies for a European grant of €1.2 million for the STINGS related project 'Preparedness and Resilience to address Urban Vulnerabilities' (Rise PRUV) that the interfaculty and interdisciplinary research institute Globalisation Studies Groningen together with some foreign partners received. The UG-part includes €700,000, of which the biggest part is intended for staff mobility and PhD's. Also a part is intended for organizing workshops and the development of materials.

> Impact investment <

Het UEF onderzoekt de mogelijkheden om een vorm van impact investment te ontwikkelen, waarbij investeerders door middel van een revolving fund betrokken worden bij innoverende onderzoeksprojecten met impact voor de maatschappij.

Awards

Thijmen Calis receiving the Aart Bosman Award from Rector Magnificus Elmer Sterken

Not only alumni, but also employees and relations of the UG feel connected with the quality of education. This appears from the growing number of incentive prizes that were established because of their support.

> Wierenga-Rengerink PhD prize <

The Wieringa-Rengerink PhD prize is awarded annually to the University researcher who wrote the best dissertation. Only exceptional dissertations (at least cum laude) qualify. This was the first year that the prize was awarded. Winner was Namkje Koudenburg of the Faculty of Behavioural and Social Sciences with her thesis 'Conversational Flow: The Emergence and Regulation of Solidarity through Social Interaction'. The prize is made possible by the Wierenga-Rengerink Fund that was established by alumnus as a named fund under the UEF.

> Aart Bosman Student Excellence Award <

At the end of each academic year, the Aart Bosman Student Excellence Award is presented to the most outstanding UG student of the year. This year, a third-year student of economics and business named Thijmen Calis received the award. The award, named after UG Professor Aart Bosman (1930 - 2008), is made possible by alumnus Gezinus Hidding who wants to honor his former teacher in Groningen.

> UEF MA Thesis Award East Asian Studies <

On November 3rd the first UEF MA Thesis Award East Asian Studies was awarded, a prize for the best master thesis at the UG in this field of research. The prize, amounting of € 888, - (8 is a lucky number in the Asian culture) was won by Silvia Cortés for her thesis "China's Public Diplomacy in Latin America." The thesis award is an initiative of the Centre for East Asian Studies Groningen (CEASG) and the UEF as part of the UEF special chair 'Chair for East Asian Studies, with a focus on modern day Mongolia'.

Named Funds

The UEF offers donors the opportunity to establish a named fund, under the auspices of the UEF. This gives donors the opportunity to contribute to research and education programs, on a personal and substantial manner. We are very pleased that the number of named funds grew in 2015. It is our ambition to further raise this number.

The new Named Funds are:

- > The Wierenga-Rengerink Fund. This fund was set up by an involved alumnus of the University. It returns an annual award for the best PhD-dissertation at the University;
- > The Institutional Investment Management Fund. This fund was set up by Robert van der Meer because of his leave-taking as a professor in Finance at the UG. From this fund an annual thesis award for students in this discipline is funded;
- > The COWOG Fund. This fund has emerged from the former Centre of Research and Development of Higher Education Groningen. From 2016 onwards, it funds the award for the Teacher of the Year of the UG.

The remaining Named Funds of the UEF are:

- > The Eric Bleumink Fund, for supporting students from developing countries;
- > The J.P. Nater Fund, for promotion of scientific research in the field of Dermatology;
- > The Grendos Fund, for stimulating research in endocrinology;
- > The Internal Medicine Fund, for promotion of research in the field of internal medicine;
- > The Fund Gooische Groningers, for promotion of research in the field of ageing processes, Alzheimer's disease in particular.

Special Chairs

In March Tjalling Halbertsma, Professor by Special Appointment at the in 2014 by the UEF established chair 'Chair for East Asian Studies, with a focus on modern day Mongolia', held his inaugural lecture, titled "Domestic Challenges and International Opportunities: Meandering through Mongolia's Past and Present". The endowed chair is connected to the Centre for East Asian Studies that has been made possible by the ING.

Thanks to the commitment of alumni in Jakarta the funds needed to appoint Ronald Holzacker as UEF Professor by Special Appointment at the chair 'Comparative multi-level governance and regional structure' at the faculty Spatial Sciences are found at Unilever Indonesia and Shell Indonesia. Holzacker is founder of the SInGA (Spirit Indonesia Groningen) research group who is focusing on governance and sustainable society. He guides ten Indonesian PhD students who are conducting their research half in Groningen, half in Indonesia. The board of the UG accepted the introduction of this second endowed chair of the UEF.
