

Systems & Control: Admission with an HBO-diploma (Fast-track)

Prior education requirement

A Fast-track programme ('Doorstroomprogramma' in Dutch) is a study programme at the University of Groningen, that can be followed by an HBO-student as part of their HBO study programme. The programme is formally part of the HBO study programme, for example as elective course units or in the form of a minor programme. The goal of such a Fast-track programme is to create a better connection between the bachelor and the master programme. Admission to a Fast-track programme for Systems & Control is granted on an individual basis by the Board of Admissions. The Fast-track content is set on an individual basis by the Board of Admissions and depends on the knowledge obtained by the prospective student within the Bachelor's Programme.

Please note: The Fast-track programme content is set on an individual basis by the Board of Admissions and depends on the knowledge obtained by the prospective student within the Bachelor's programme.
