

Introductory Activities

Dear first-year student of Artificial Intelligence or Computing Science,

It is great to hear that you chose AI or CS as your studies for the upcoming years. In order to make it as easy and fun as possible for you to meet your new fellow first-year and senior students, the IntroCee (Introductory Committee) of study association Cover organizes an introductory camp. Its duration spans from Friday afternoon to Sunday afternoon, at a location outside of Groningen (transportation is arranged by Cover). During those days, you will participate in games and activities that aim to break the ice and bring you closer to your peers. Of course there are some surprise events in store, too. Often times, the people you meet during the camp remain your friends -or your trusted lab partners- for the rest of your studies!

All planned activities will be posted on the calendar on the Cover site, so keep an eye out for these activities. If anything about the introductory activities is unclear, you can always email introcee@svcover.nl.
