

Welcome letter from the study association TBV Lugus

Dear first-year student,

Welcome! We are the study association of Industrial Engineering and Management and we provide study support, social and personal development activities and career events for all of our members. TBV Lugus organises several introduction activities (in collaboration with the degree programme) in order to provide you an exciting start of the year. You will see and hear our name a lot when the academic year starts. This welcome letter provides a short overview of introduction activities.

Additional information about the book sale (with Lugus discount) and the Introduction Weekend is available in separate documents of the introduction package. More information can be found on www.tbvlugus.nl.

Introduction activities

The academic year will start with the IEM Introduction Day on Monday, 5th of September. The introduction programme is organised together with the Bachelor's degree programme. You will receive an introduction to the programme management, information about TBV Lugus and you will have a meeting with your fellow students and your Learning Community Coach in your Learning Community. The day will start at 12.00, EA 5159.0090 Energy academy. Around 17.00 we will finish with a free BBQ at Zernike, especially for you!

In addition, the Introduction Committee organises the Introduction Weekend for first year IEM students. The aim of this weekend is to get acquainted with your fellow students, the board and other Lugus members. The weekend will take place after the first week of the academic year, from 9 - 11 September 2022. We highly encourage you to join this exciting weekend, for which you will find all information in a separate document in the information package (including a description to sign up during the summer).

In conclusion, we very much welcome you to attend
