

Lydia de Jong

Department of HRM and Organizational Behaviour, Faculty of Economics and Business, University of Groningen
l.a.g.m.de.jong@rug.nl

Background

MSc Work & Organizational Psychology

VU University Amsterdam

Thesis: The role of type of employment and professional autonomy in helping behavior towards colleagues by Dutch medical specialists

MA Management of Cultural Diversity

Tilburg University

Thesis: Doctors' perceptions of management of medical care.
A case study: the Scottish NHS

Research interests

The influence of incentive systems on:

- Work motivation of medical professionals
- Multidisciplinary collaboration
- Quality of patient care
- (Professional) autonomy

Supervisors

Prof. dr. Eric
Molleman
HRM & Organizational Behaviour
h.b.m.molleman@rug.nl

dr. Taco van der Vaart Operations management
j.t.van.der.vaart@rug.nl

university of groningen