Acknowledgements / Dankwoord

Surely, this thesis would have not been completed without intellectual, emotional and practical support of the people around me.

First and foremost, I would like to thank my supervisors. Marjolein and Albert, I very much enjoyed our regular research discussions. I admire the way you guided me as a PhD student along the road towards academic independence, balancing between personal research curiosities, project interests, and theoretical gaps. Your questions, comments and timely understanding for rigorous changes, delays, new insights, break downs, and so on, enabled me to enjoy this inspiring research endeavor to its fullest. It has been a great experience! Hans, thank you for your thoughtful guidance not only during the research process, but also as chair of the implementation project. Your efforts to keep the implementation project running smoothly were key to the continuation of the PhD trajectory on more than one occasion.

Special thanks to the reading committee, Prof. Marleen Huysman, Prof. Philip Powell, and Prof. Dirk Strijker, for their careful reading of and interesting reflections on this thesis.

During my PhD I was lucky enough to be part of a diverse project team. John, Lusette, Roel, Geke, and Sylvia it has been a pleasure working with you. Lusette, I lost count of the number of meetings, gatherings and events we joint in three, by now, well known community centers. It has been wonderful to discuss the project’s progress on our way back. John, thanks for sharing your stories and experiences in local politics, health networks and with older adults adopting technology. Roel, I will never forget our trips to the villages, armed with boxes full surveys and material to train ‘our’ volunteers. I enjoyed those moments a lot. And a big thanks for making the beautiful cover of this thesis! Geke, thank you for your well-timed encouragements and dedicated work on both the project’s proposal and final report. Sylvia, thank you for taking such good care of all sorts of practicalities during the project meetings.
Inge, Ria, and Janna, you became the warm heart of the project within your respective villages, all in your own unique ways. Janna, your commitment to ‘your’ older adults was amazing. Ria, despite you were faced with some considerable challenges, you managed to become a local rock below the project. That is impressive! Your ability to care for and support others is an inspiration. Thank you so much! Inge, I think we shared some very unique moments together, during the tablet courses you taught, the coffee mornings in the community center, the presentations for ministries, project boards, and patient interest organizations, as well as in the sun at ‘Garnwerd aan Zee’. Thank you for all the laughs, shared frustration, ideas, and your constant energy to make the project work.

I received valuable feedback during my presentations of our initial research findings from members from the project board, including Menne van Dijk, Hans Greuter, Peter Heidema, Gerrit Schuurhuis, Algreet Tamminga, and Wiebe Zorge, and the project’s advisory council, including Janet Appelhof, Andrea Fokkens, Sjoukje Heidinga, Pieter Knol, Sacha Kraaijenga, Andries Kroese, Carolien Rietman, and Marian Scharft. Thank you for your constructive feedback and rich ideas. Andrea, thank you for lending Roel a creative hand photoshopping the cover photo.

Daarnaast heb ik in de loop van het onderzoek verschillende mensen mogen interviewen, in sommige gevallen zelfs meerdere malen. Voor mij waren dit hoogtepunten en voor het onderzoek leverde het een schat aan informatie op. Dank jullie wel voor de mooie, verassende en soms ontroerende verhalen die jullie met mij deelden. Ook dank voor de feedback die ik van sommige van jullie kreeg op eerste, voorlopige resultaten uit het onderzoek. Zonder jullie had dit boekje hier niet gelegen.

Aan alle mensen die de vragenlijst soms een keer, soms twee keer, en soms zelfs drie keer invulden: Heel hartelijk dank. Belangrijke inzichten uit dit proefschrift waren niet aan het licht gekomen zonder jullie bijdrage.

Aan de personen op de voorkant van deze thesis, heel hartelijk dank voor het enthousiasme waarmee jullie mij toestonden de foto te gebruiken voor de voorkant van deze thesis.

John Roo, thank you for your work on our joint paper included as Chapter 1 in this thesis. I am really impressed by your drive to get through the enormous pile of potentially interesting papers we divided among ourselves. You were pushing yourself to deliver an excellent thesis, no matter what. This in combination with your genuine interest in the research topic, made working with you a real pleasure.

I would like to thank my colleagues at the department of Innovation Management & Strategy. I feel very fortunate to be able to work with all of you, it has made the past years a truly enriching experience. To those of you with whom I have had the pleasure of sharing some wonderful, outside-office dinners, teas, picknicks, and drinks: thank you! Special thanks to Matthias, who has been my friend-at-work from day one. Edin and Arvi, you have been amazing roommates. And finally, an apology to my fellow PhD’s: it is undeniably true that my team always lost during PhD pub-quizzes. Maybe you’ll have better luck next year...

It feels like stating the obvious when expressing thanks to my supporting Mom and Dad, my sweetest and favorite sister Yvonne, and my wonderful, loving friends. I can remember more than one ‘acute PhD break-down’ conversation with you. Needless to say that I am very grateful with your support and advice, which kept me going at decisive moments. Florian, thank you for all your support and patience. Your home cooked dinners after a very long day working on revisions are the best.
