Travels to feed and food to breed
Trierweiler, Christiane

IMPORTANT NOTE: You are advised to consult the publisher's version (publisher's PDF) if you wish to cite from it. Please check the document version below.

Document Version
Publisher's PDF, also known as Version of record

Publication date:
2010

Link to publication in University of Groningen/UMCG research database

Citation for published version (APA):

Copyright
Other than for strictly personal use, it is not permitted to download or to forward/distribute the text or part of it without the consent of the author(s) and/or copyright holder(s), unless the work is under an open content license (like Creative Commons).

Take-down policy
If you believe that this document breaches copyright please contact us providing details, and we will remove access to the work immediately and investigate your claim.

Downloaded from the University of Groningen/UMCG research database (Pure): http://www.rug.nl/research/portal. For technical reasons the number of authors shown on this cover page is limited to 10 maximum.
Acknowledgements

I’m very grateful to all who accompanied and guided me on my path to where I am now! In 2003, I found myself, more or less by coincidence, working as MSc student on Montagu’s harriers. Together with fellow-student Marlien de Voogd, undisturbed by her Monday-morning-and-the-roof-of-your-car-is-leaking mood, we were enjoying much fun. Erik Visser taught me a lot about Montagu’s harrier fieldwork, especially how to be patient when waiting for action near harrier nests, and how to handle little Kestrels and Monties. Ben Koks revealed the bigger picture of Montagu’s harrier as flagship species of farmland biodiversity, and the idea of agri-environmental schemes.

One day on the dyke, Ben asked me whether I would be interested in doing a PhD-project on this subject. I could not have been happier; but it was still a long way before that dream could be realised. I want to thank Ben first: He believed in my capacities and guided and strengthened me in many situations. He was and is the source of inspiration, ideas, concepts, funding, data - the project! I learned a lot of Ben and his never-resting mind and feel deeply honoured that he provided me with this opportunity. We have together survived many adventures, and lived through scary, silly, funny, interesting and enjoyable situations: Shaking hands near the Nigerien-Nigerian border, driving in military convoy near the Moroccan-Algerian border, talking to farmers, professors, choryfees, nomads and even magicians, on three continents. Thanks Ben for suffering my critical view of this world and putting your unlimited optimism against it! What I appreciate most is that I’m not standing alone now this little book is finished, and I hope we bring more projects to a good and fruitful end together.

The late Rudi Drent, by that time retired as professor at the Animal Ecology Group, has kindly supported me, being my shadow-mentor during the first years of my PhD-project. Within a sea of uninspiring circumstances and critics raising their voices, Rudi was a lighthouse showing the way. I am grateful that he put endless confidence in my and our success, and I still miss him.

I am very grateful to Jan Komdeur and Cor Dijkstra for giving the start sign of my PhD-project on a sunny day in Finsterwolde in 2005. Thanks for adopting this non-mainstream project! When I was shattered or running out of time, Jan would find a solution and always made things work. The trust Franz Bairlein and Michael Exo put in me and in our project made it possible that I started off and went on to bring it to a good end. Visits to Wilhelmshaven were always inspiring and constructive. Michael gave me many times a helping hand, reminded me of deadlines and made a real text out of my miserable German, which was not only useful but also very comforting! I am glad that co-operations with my former PhD-supervisors continue on new projects.

Many thanks to Thomas Alerstam, Raymond Klaassen, Roine Strandberg, Beatriz Arroyo, Vincent Bretagnolle, and the late Roger Clarke who were willing to share their knowledge, skills and wisdom! I am happy to have found in Rob Bijlsma a person that is, concerning raptors, not only an endless source of literature references but also always right (yes!). Thanks to Rob for his constructive criticism and important contributions to box A, C and chapter 8. Thanks to Wim Mullié, Kees van Scharenburg, Marien de Bakker and David Douglas for their inspiring and helpful co-operation! Thanks to István Szentirmai for making the result from our joint work convincing. Abdoulaye Harouna, Joost Brouwer, Sama Gagaré, Kailou Moussa, Housseni Issaka, Rob Bijlsma, Eddy Wymenga, Leo Bruinzeel, Leen Smits and Younoussa Issa have helped us start up our Sahel work. Thanks to Leo Zwarts for advice concerning the Sahel work and his contribution to chapter 8. I thank Marion Gschweng who showed us how to deploy satellite tags. Thanks to my colleague harrier-PhDs Julien Terraube and Ruben Limiñana for being open for co-operation and exchange. Thanks to Brecht Verhelst and his team for organising the Batumi (Georgia) autumn migration raptor count 2008, which delivered the inspiration and part of the data for box C. Thanks to Leo Bruinzeel, Martijn van der Pol and Raul Primicerio who taught me much during my biology study that was of great use later during my PhD project. Thanks to Berber de Jong, Esther Bouma and Janske van den Crommenakker for editing the Dutch texts! Thanks to Hans Hut, Harold van der Meer, Theo van Kooten and Ben Koks for the photographs, and thanks to Dick Visser for the layout and drawing the figures!

Thanks to the past and present board members and colleagues of the Dutch Montagu’s Harrier Foundation. Thanks to Jorna Arisz for the help with GIS and the work and good times we shared. Thanks for the good times to all our students, especially Martijn Perk. Hilbrand Schoonveld, Cathryn Wiekens and Jelle and Anneke Dijkstra are the ones that taught me about Monties and Monty volunteers in the good old times. After having survived a week with Hans Hut in the Nigerien bush, and living through the Belarusian and Dutch swamps, I have learned to appreciate his good heart! Thanks to Dmitri Vintchevski, Dominik Krupiński, Lars Maltha Rasmussen, Henning Heldbjerg, Michael Clausen, Iben Hove Sørensen, Hubertus Illner, Jochen Ropers and Jean-Luc Bourrioux for their co-operation across Europe. Thanks to Luit Heikens and the B.V. Oldambt for their friendly co-operation! Thanks to the farmers for their warm welcome, especially Willem and Titia Schillhorn van Veen, Cors and Wilma Onnes, Geuko and Aagtje ten Have, Remco van Wieringen, Rolf-Peter Löblein, Fokko de Boer and Bernard Leemhuis (“Duutsers bin ook mensen”). Thanks to the colleagues at the Biological Centre in Haren for nice coffee breaks, lunch hours, lunch meetings, pingpong, borrels and parties! Thanks to Joyce, a secretary who always finds a solution. Thanks also to Wolter and the canteen people for spreading their positive moods. Thanks to those colleagues far away that made conferences enjoyable and stayed in touch.

I would especially like to thank my parents Christa and Gerd who were supporting me all along, with finances, a listening ear and open hearts. Thanks for your love, for understanding me, sharing my life and letting me go my own way, with your blessings! Thanks to my sister Annette and her family - Carsten, Nico and Lina - for their interest in my project and their support during the last years! Christa and Annette were the ones who awakened my interest for birds and biology...

Last but not least I would like to thank the friends that accompanied me during these years. Ralf, Han, Thijs, Mark, Astrid, Robert, Jan, Rina, Mac, Maria, Nils and those I don’t mention here, thanks for the good times we shared! Ralf thanks for saving me by typing all my references last-minute! Jeroen, thanks for the support, I know it hasn’t been easy. Dear Esther and Ilse, it’s great to know you are there and happy to share moments of sadness and joy! Esther, thank you for your helping hand when I most needed it, I couldn’t have done it without you. Thanks Arne for your support during the thesis preparation and the proof-reading. Being with you made me believe in the future again!