References

Basu, A.M (1992), Culture, the Status of Women and Demographic Behaviour: Illustrated with the Case of India, Oxford, Clarendon Press.

Higher Education and the Reproductive Life Course

References

Higher Education and the Reproductive Life Course

Census (2001), Census of India, Registrar General of India, New Delhi.

References

Higher Education and the Reproductive Life Course

Gustafsson, S., E. Kenjoh and C. Wetzels (2001), The role of education in postponement of modernity in Britain, Germany, The Netherlands and Sweden. Working paper, manuscript.

Higher Education and the Reproductive Life Course

Hennink, M (2001), Materials used at the qualitative workshop held at Population Research Centre, University of Groningen, October, 2001.

Hutter, I. and B.M. Ramesh (2003), The role of cultural schemas and cultural meaning systems regarding demographic and reproductive health behavior in south india. Paper presented to the Population Association of America, Annual Meeting, May 1-3, Minneapolis, USA.

Hutter, I. (1998), Reproductive health and child spacing in rural South India; contribution to a reorientation of population policies in India. A background paper to the IDPAD project. Demographic Reports 23, Population Research Centre, Groningen.

Indian Express, Sex, it is a-changing. 24/09/2005.

References

Kapadia, K.M (1965), Marriage and Family in India, Oxford University Press, London.

Karve, I (1965), Kinship organization in India, Oxford University Press, Bombay.

Karnataka (Census 2001 highlights)

Kumar, K (2001), The development of women's education in India. New Delhi: Kanishka.
Higher Education and the Reproductive Life Course

Miller, T (2003), Shifting perceptions of expert knowledge: becoming a mother. Human Fertility. 6, pp. 142-146.

Higher Education and the Reproductive Life Course

Pande, T (2000), Organisational role stress and coping among dual career couples along the work family life cycle, unpublished PhD dissertation, Department of Psychology, University of Delhi.
References

RCH (2000), Reproductive and child health project: rapid household survey (phase I and II), International Institute of Population Sciences, Mumbai.
Higher Education and the Reproductive Life Course

Srinivas, M.N (1972), Social change in modern India. New Delhi, Orient Longman.

TOI (2004a), Here cometh the new age woman. The Times of India, 08/04/2004.

TOI (2004b), Single and successful women - Be happy you're single. The Times of India, 17/02/2004.

References

Unwalla, J.M (1977), Beyond the household walls- A study of women executives at work and at home, PhD thesis, Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Bombay.

