

ARCHON Symposium

Young Voices on the Ancients

16 April 2021

Have you always wondered how archaeologists do their research?
This symposium is your chance to take a look behind the scenes!

In this symposium, young researchers in archaeology and ancient studies will present their ongoing work for a broader audience, to share their passion for archaeology and invite you to debate. You will be looking over the shoulders of the researchers and be given insight into what makes archaeological research so fascinating. It will bring you up to date with current trends, and showcase the wide range of scientific approaches that can be applied to understand the past. The symposium's online format guarantees that it will be easy to interact with the speakers.

PROGRAM (12:00 – 15:30)

Yara Hallenga (VU, RMA student) Villainous Women of Ancient Rome in the 20th and 21st Centuries
Suzan van de Velde (LU, PhD student) The impact and lives of Greek original statues in Rome
Maruschka Jansen (University of Cologne, MA student) A Roman pottery kiln from the Rudolfplatz in Cologne (Germany)

Break (13:10 – 13:25)

Epameinondas Kazolis (RUG, RMA student) Antigonid settlements in Early Hellenistic period
Yannick Baudet (UU, RMA student) Haardracht en identiteit van de burgers van de Griekse polis
Danise van Hal (RUG, RMA student) Applying Aristides Quintilian's Gendered Music Theory

Break (14:25 – 14:40)

Martijn Stoll (UvA, RMA student) The Iconography of Early Christian Wall Paintings in Churches
Thilanka Siriwardana (RUG, PhD student)
Changing seascapes and challenges in exploring the coastal archaeological sites in Sri Lanka

Registration:
www.weekvandeklassieken.nl/
#/Agenda